

CALL FOR HOSTING 2024 EAHN BIENNIAL CONFERENCE

DEADLINE EXTENDED TO 16 DECEMBER 2021

Since 2010, the European Architectural History Network has organized a major international conference every second year. The biennial conferences offer the chance to bring together scholars in the field from all over the world and have played a leading role in consolidating and promoting architectural history research in Europe and overseas. These are major meetings, or conferences, held on even years and alternating with a complimentary programme of smaller thematic international meetings.

After the biennial conferences held in Guimarães 2010, Brussels 2012, Turin 2014, Dublin 2016, Tallin 2018, Edinburgh 2021 and the one to take place in Madrid 2022, the EAHN is looking for academics and institutions willing to host the following biennial conference in 2024.

The main purpose of the biennial conference is to map the general state of research in disciplines related to the built environment, to promote discussion of current themes and concerns, and to foster new directions for research in the field. The guidelines for hosting a biennial conference can be found on the EAHN web site (<https://eahn.org/conference/>).

The application should be addressed to the EAHN Board (secretary@eahn.org) by 16 December 2021, in time for discussion at the EAHN winter 2022 Business Meeting.
