

CALL FOR HOSTING 2028 EAHN BIENNIAL CONFERENCE

Since 2010, the European Architectural History Network has organised a major international conference every second year. The biennial conferences offer the chance to bring together scholars in the field from all over the world and have played a leading role in consolidating and promoting architectural history research in Europe and overseas. These are major meetings, or conferences, held on even years and alternating with a complimentary programme of smaller thematic international meetings.

After the biennial conferences held in Guimarães (2010), Brussels (2012), Turin (2014), Dublin (2016), Tallin (2018), Edinburgh (2021), Madrid (2022) and Athens (2024), the next biennial conference will be held in Aarhus in 2026. The EAHN is now looking for academics and institutions willing to host the following biennial conference in 2028.

The main purpose of the biennial conference is to map the general state of research in disciplines related to the built environment, to promote discussion of current themes and concerns, and to foster new directions for research in the field. The guidelines for hosting a biennial conference can be found on the EAHN web site (<https://eahn.org/conference/>).

The application should be addressed to the EAHN Board (secretary@eahn.org) by 10 January 2026, in time for discussion at the EAHN winter 2026 Business Meeting in Glasgow.

Biennial International Meeting Guidelines

These guidelines apply to the organisation of the Biennial International Meetings of the EAHN. These are major meetings, or conferences, held on even years and alternating with a complimentary programme of smaller Themed International Meetings (see separate guide for more information). For details about scheduling and organisational procedures, please also see the Appendix and Templates at the end of these guidelines.

Step 1. Application

- a) Any scholarly recognized institution, with an appointed General Chair (a fully subscribed member of EAHN, local to the host institution) can apply to host a biennial EAHN international meeting. If the application is successful, this individual will become EAHN Second Vice-President.
- b) The proposed host institution should provide a preliminary Organising Committee, which must include the General Chair, to oversee the practicalities of hosting the.
- c) The proposal must provide evidence of financial capacity to sustain the organisation and an indicative budget, including revenues from conference fees. EAHN will get a fixed 75€ per registered participant to be included in the budget. The host institution holds responsibility for all financial requirements, either internally or with the support of sponsors.
- d) Support from the EAHN is solely institutional and scholarly.
- e) The proposal should include a proposed venue, an outline of the attractions of the host city and potential local and/or regional tour programmes. The application should demonstrate the architectural relevance of the institution and/or city and explain why it would be a good choice to host an EAHN international meeting.
- f) Suitable dates for the conference should be given - four consecutive days (Thursday to Sunday) in the month of June.
- g) The application should be addressed to the EAHN Board in time for discussion at the EAHN Business Meeting at least two and half years in advance (for example: for a projected international meeting in June 2016, the application must be received no later than December 2013).

Step 2. Organisation

- a) The General Chair must form a Scientific Committee including him/herself (the sole representative of the host institution), the President and Vice-President of the EAHN, the chair of the previous EAHN conference and other scholars, forming a group of a total of 8 to 10 members. The final composition of this committee should ensure diversity both in terms of members' geographical origins and their research interests. The Scientific Committee is responsible for ensuring the quality and scholarly merit of the conference.

- b) The Organising Committee should prepare and provide a Call for Sessions and Round Tables Proposals (CFSR – see Template 1) to announce at the preceding international meeting, two years before.
- c) By the time of the CFSR announcement, a conference website should be available, providing complete information on the venue, CFSR and committees. A template page on the EAHN website will be created by the EAHN web team to host this information, although its content will be the responsibility of the Organising Committee.
- d) The Scientific Committee must select around 25 sessions and round tables in time for the launching of the Call for Papers and Discussions Positions (CFP) in the spring of the year before the conference. The selection must take into consideration different geographical, chronological, methodological and disciplinary approaches. It is a task of the Organising Committee to prepare all the logistics regarding the CFP (see Template 2).
- e) The General Chair must propose three keynote speakers for the conference, one of whom must be discussed and agreed by the Organising Committee and should be the 'national' representative of the host country. The remaining two must be chosen by the Scientific Committee and one of these should be appointed to sum up the conference in his/her lecture during the closing ceremony. Again, the selection of keynote speakers should ensure diversity both in terms of geographical origins and their research specialisms.
- f) The EAHN provides a recommended daily conference schedule (see Template 3).
- g) The Organising Committee will offer organisations affiliated to the EAHN the opportunity to hold a round table or meeting. These activities are part of the main programme and should preferably be held at the main venue. The affiliated organisations are responsible for both the organisation of these activities and scholarly quality. The EAHN Secretary will act as contact person.
- h) The Organising Committee will also offer the EAHN Interest Groups the opportunity to organise a side event. Such events will be advertised in the conference programme, however they can be planned before the opening address of the conference and at different locations than the main venue. Interest Groups are responsible for the scholarly quality of their meeting. The EAHN Communications Officer will act as contact person. The Interest Group meetings are informal, and for the members of the respective groups. The Groups shall not post a 'call for papers' in advance, or otherwise turn the meetings into conference sessions within the biennial conference [Business Meeting Glasgow 2026].
- i) The Organising Committee will also provide a social programme and parallel activities that complete the conference programme such as: book launches, book fairs, lunches, receptions, dinners, coffee breaks, tours (including short local midday tours and half-day or full-day local or regional tours - see Template 3).

Step 3. After the Conference

- a) After the conference, the General Chair must present a full financial report to the EAHN board.
- b) The conference fee will cover 75 Euros of membership fee to EAHN. The sum of membership fees collected by the host institution will be transferred to the EAHN bank account in one month after the conference. All other profit revenues will be equally shared by the host institution and the EAHN, with a bank transfer being conducted to the EAHN account, assistance being provided by the EAHN Treasurer.
- c) The conference Chair and Organising Committee are not required to produce conference proceedings or otherwise publish the conference papers. Abstracts published in the conference program and – if necessary – a certificate of attendance issued by EAHN and signed by the President or Conference Chair are the standard means to confirm participation [Business Meeting Glasgow 2026].

Notes for the General Chair and Organising Committee

- a) Sessions or round tables will be scheduled to last two hours and forty-five minutes.
- b) Sessions will consist of either five papers or four papers and a respondent, with time for dialogue and questions at the end. Each paper should be limited to a 20-minute presentation.
- c) Round tables will consist of at least five participants and an extended time for dialogue, debate and discussion between participants, chair(s) and public. Each participant will have 10 minutes to present his or her position (the precise timing will be decided by round table chair(s)).
- d) The Organising Committee may propose a limited number of Open Sessions, depending on venue facilities and CFP response. In this case, the General Chair can request one or two rejected high-quality papers per session chair and agree the final selection with the Scientific Committee within a short timeframe, so that newly accepted speakers have sufficient time to prepare and meet registration deadlines.
- e) No one may act both as chair of a session/round table and as a speaker/discussant in another session/round table, or as speakers/discussants in two or more sessions. Chairs, speakers and discussants must register between January and February, 2028, and each one is expected to secure their own institutional or other support for his/her own registration, travel and expenses to the host city and venue. EAHN membership is required for registration.
- f) The General Chair will encourage the Scientific Committee to discuss and organise Themes that group non-parallel sessions or round tables in thematic threads to be followed by an appointed scholar, who will be responsible for presenting a five-minute report at the closing ceremony.

Call for Session and Round-table Proposals

After the successful EAHN ... (sequence number) International Meeting in ... (city), the network is organising a ... (sequence number) pan-European meeting in ... (city/year). In accordance with the EAHN mission statement, this meeting aims to increase the visibility of the discipline; to foster transnational, interdisciplinary and multicultural approaches to the study of the built environment; and to facilitate the exchange of research results in the field. Though the scope of the meeting is European, members of the larger scholarly community are invited to submit proposals related not only to Europe's geographical framework, but also to its transcontinental aspects.

The main purpose of the meeting is to map the general state of research in disciplines related to the built environment, to promote discussion of current themes and concerns, and to foster new directions for research in the field. Session proposals are intended to cover different periods in the history of architecture and different approaches to the built environment, including landscape and urban history. Parallel sessions will consist of either five papers or four papers and a respondent, with time for dialogue and questions at the end. In addition, a limited number of round-table debates addressing burning issues in the field will also take place at the meeting. Proposals are sought for round-table debates that re-map, re-define, and outline the current discipline. They will typically consist of a discussion between panel members and encourage debate with the audience. The goal is to create a forum in which different scholars can present and discuss their ideas, research materials and methodologies.

Scholars wishing to chair a scholarly session or a round-table debate at (city/year) are invited to submit proposals by December ... (day),(year) to ...(email of general chair), Prof./Dr. ... (name of general chair), General Chair of the EAHN ... (sequence number) International Meeting, ... (address data and contacts). Membership will be required to chair or present research at the meeting. To join EAHN, go to <https://eahn.org> or contact secretary@eahn.org. Each session or round-table chair is expected to fund his/her own travel and related expenses to participate in the conference.

Proposals in English of no more than 400 words including a session or round-table title should summarize the subject and the premise. Please include name, professional affiliation (if applicable), address, telephone and fax numbers, email address, and a current CV. Proposals and one-page CVs should be submitted by e-mail, including the text in both the body of the email and in the attachment. Since late submissions cannot be considered, it is recommended that proposals be submitted and their receipt confirmed well before the deadline. The General Chair cannot be responsible for last-minute submissions, electronic or otherwise, that fail to reach their destination.

Session and round-table proposals will be selected on the basis of merit and the need to organise a well-balanced program. A few open sessions or round-tables may be organised by the Scientific Committee, depending on the response to the following call for papers. Should a chosen proposal be found in an identical format in a different conference, the Scientific Committee reserves the right to withdraw from the programme.
